

I do not want to be called by any former business associations. If I want to re-establish a business relationship with someone, I will call them. I like my evening time at home without annoying telemarketers.